CHARACTER NAME

SPECIES

TANK MATE OR NEIGHBOR

DID YOU KNOW?

Nemo & Marlin

Clownfish _____

Clownfish live in the stinging tentacles of anemones to stay safe from predators. Special skin mucus protects clownfish from the stings.

Bloat

Pufferfish _____

Several species of pufferfish live at the aquarium. In addition to avoiding predators by their ability to blow up like a balloon, they can be poisonous to eat!

Dory

Regal Surgeonfish _____

Bubbles and Dory are cousins! Both are a type of surgeonfish that have a modified fin used for fighting for a mate.

Bubbles

Yellow Tang _____

This type of surgeonfish is referred to as a tang and has a more round body than his cousin Dory. The yellow tang loves to graze on algae.

Crush & Squirt

Sea Turtle _____

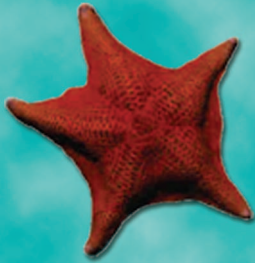

Our sea turtles are youngsters just like Squirt! They were born on the South Carolina coast this past August and will return to the sea in 2007.

Jacques

Sheldon

Peach

Pearl

Cleaner Shrimp _____

Coral banded shrimp are a type of cleaner that picks parasites off fish. Their long white antenna communicate to the fish that they are there to help!

Seahorse _____

Seahorse dads do all the work to raise baby seahorses. Mom puts the eggs in dad's special pouch, where he carries them until they are born.

Seastar _____

Seastars walk by using their many "tube feet" found under each leg. They also use them to hold tightly to rocks and open clams, which they love to eat!

Octopus _____

Octopuses are very intelligent and like a challenge. At feeding time, we provide food to our octopus in a jar or puzzle box. He solves the puzzle to get to his meal.

Find the tank mates or neighbors of the fish that appear in Disney On Ice presents Disney/Pixar's Finding Nemo at Riverbanks Zoo and Garden. On this scavenger hunt form, list a fish that shares the tank or is a neighbor of each species at Riverbanks' Aquarium Reptile Complex (ARC). Drop this completed form in our specially marked boxes at the ARC's exit or at the Zoo's main gate.

We know you love animals, and we do too! Riverbanks Zoo and Garden animals get the best quality care, from people who care. Visit www.aza.org to find the list of AZA accredited zoos and aquariums near you and help make a difference for wildlife and wild places.
